BEC Coverage and Transmission Priorities

1. The attached list of coverage and transmission priorities for the BEC Monitoring Service will be used as a policy guide for your operation as they pertain to service to BEC. It should be noted that there is no wide variation between BEC's priorities and our own.

2. Coverage in this context refers to the actual monitoring and processing of the broadcasts and the attached list indicates the order of importance of such coverage. Transmission priorities refers to the speed with which BEC would like to receive the monitored material. Obviously these are not always the same. For example, Soviet Regionals are indicated as being most important for coverage but have a relatively low priority for transmission.
